On the floor in the front room where he stood were sixteen bags, each containing 10.608 Mexican dollars, and on the window sill were half a dozen newly purchased diamond rings, glittering in their plush boxes. The coin was purchased from the banks in El Paso for use in Chihuahua, where silver has been scarce, and the diamond rings were presents from Various rebel commanders.

General Villa was garbed in a new olive green uniform, the first tallormade uniform he ever wore. The rebel leader listened with a blank incredulous expression to questions put to characteristic fierceness in his clinched fists and black gleaming eyes.

If he becomes President and tells me to get out of the country, I will do it instantly. No more proof of my loyalty to General Carranza could be asked.

"I wish all the nations of the world to know that I am not fighting to make myself President," and here General Villa brought both clenched fists through the air by way of emphasis. "We are not fighting to make any man President, but we hope to save our "Doublets of the continued to-morrow."

DRESSES TO PLEASE QUEEN

American Actress Will Give Performance at Windsor Castle.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.]
London, January 28.—When Marie Doro, the American actress, goes to Windsor Castle to-morrow to play "Dora," in a performance of "Diplomacy," she will conform to Queen Mary's firm notions regarding modesty in dress. The young American's smart French dresses have undergone sufficient alterations to enable them to pass the royal muster. The sleeves have been lengthened and the corsage will be artificially filled. The slit skirts have been appropriately sewed up, as Queen Mary believes in strict demureness in feminine apparel.

Marie Doro is perhaps, the first well-known American actress to appear by command before English monarchs. That the honor does not impress her lightly is proved by her diplomatic desire to please the Queen. Miss Doro is said to have explained that, knowing the Queen's opinions regarding frivolous and daring modern fashions, she gladly consented to slight alterations which would win the approval of her royal critic.

"One tries to please one's audience in every way possible," said Miss Doro to-day, "Why not extend such adaptability to the Queen of England?"

Rumor says that Miss Doro will return to America to star in "Diplomacy" when released by her London management.

Juarez, January 28.—General Francisco Villa, military commander of rebel forces, to-day disciaimed any ambition to become President of Mexico in the event the revolution is successful. If said that he did not wish to overshadow General Carranza, whom he recognized as the leader of the revolution.

"Should General Carranza become President, he would receive my support, and I would obey his commands, said General Villa. "As proof of my loyalty and as evidence that I have no ambition to become President, I would leave the country if he ordered

Seeks to Accelerate Rat- Death Closes Fifty Years ification of Arbitration Treaties.

HOPES TO PREVENT FUNERAL WILL BE ANY ILL-FEELING AT SPRINGFIELD

Acute Condition of Affairs in Mexico Compels Administration to Remove All Sources of Grievances, Real or Imaginary, Held by European Powers.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, January 28 .- President Wilson to-day began the task of accelerating ratification of the pending arbitration treaties before the Foreign Relations Committee, particularly that with Great Britain.

There are sixteen general treaties pending, all of which lapsed at the expiration of five-year periods termi-Shelby Moore Cullom's death ended fifty years of continuous public ser-vice that had made him a figure in American national life and brought nating in June of last year. The most important are those with Great Britain, Italy and Japan. The French treaty was ratified promptly. The Canal tolls question then arose, and rather than pass over the British treaty, all of them were pigeonholed.

The acute condition of affairs in Mexico, coupled with the activity of Japan in that republic, admittedly compels the administration to remove all sources of grievances, real or imaginpels the administration to remove all sources of grievances, real or imaginary, held by European powers. If the time is coming when the United States must deal sharply with the Japanese question, the President wants no illdesire for prompt ratification of the arbitration treaty with Great Britain and legislation that will eliminate the pending controversy over Canal tolls.
No Note to Jupan.

It developed to-day that so acute did the administration consider the Japanese situation last year, when it sent its note to the powers requesting American policy in Mexico, that no such request was sent to Japan. It was the only power ignored.

It is now argued that this failure to communicate with Japan was due to a fear that that government might not be inclined to comply.

Continued acquiescence of Europe in President Wilson's Mexican policy is absolutely essential, it is said, and that co-operation, it is explained by Sena-tors, will be facilitated by the United States disposing of some of the prob-lems in which Europe and the United States are directly concerned.

It was said to-day that the administration has learned much more within the last few days regarding the activity of Japan in Mexico than had been known before. The fact has been made plain that Japanese merchants have have accumulated to suggest that, while Europe is backing the United States in sincere good faith in its Mexican policy, Japan is openly in sympathy with Mexico, and is exercising no restraint in her efforts to win a premier position in Mexican esti-

But the danger which is now said to confront the administration, and which has been emphasized of late, is that Europe, acting for the protection of her own subjects and threatening spirit, is on the point of suggesting to the United States that if we do not intervene in Mexico, Europe will. One of the most important questions in connection with this pos-sibility is the position of England and her ally, Japan. It is within the power of England to check intervention and to restrain Japan, but it is be ing pointed out here by men of the ripest experience that she can hardly in this direction, unless she may expect friendly treatment in return.

The ratification of the British treaty, Sepators said to-day, would be a posi-tive step toward a foreign policy that would commend itself to the country It is claimed that it would remove the tolls question from the field of doubt, a step which, primarily affecting Great Britain, is of equal importance to all other maritime nations. Should the administration be able to make and ratify a new commercial treaty with Russia, the chain of friendly understanding among the great European nations and the United States, it is said, would be well-nigh complete.

Among his first political experiences was the novelty of being elected and defeated at the same election. He was elected to the Legislature and defeated as an elector on the Fillmore ticket. Then came the historic Lincoln and Douglas debates, and Cullom's intimate association with Lincoln, whom he followed into the ranks of the Republican party. He presided over the session of the Illinois House, at which, after Fort Sumter had been fired upon, Stephen A. Douglas appeared and made his dramatic plea for the preservation of the Union. During the first of President Lincoln's second term Mr. Cullom came to the national House of Representatives and began a work which was practically interrupted only when he served two terms as Governor of Illinois. Lincoln was assassinated soon after Cullom entered Washington life and the young legislator was a member of the committee that demanded the return of the President's body to Springfield.
